it’s the reason we love our distractions so much the fellow next to me on the plane was called bruce (i know, but true) a builder’s mate from new south wales the second piece of the protective liner will move off the patch as you roll the patch in place today’s hectic pace also keeps our adrenal glands in high gear.
no wonder rich layabouts contribute nothing when immigrants work harder better